If you're coming to London for a longer period of time (quite wise) or are just sick of living at home and fancy the luxury of a W1 postcode, the services of a 5* hotel, but the comfort of your own home (lucky thing), then 56 Welbeck Street is for you.

Sister property to No. 5 Maddox Street, 56 Welbeck Street opens in the heart of Marylebone offering seven residencies consisting of a bedroom, sitting room and fully fitted kitchen. Available for stays of 90 days or more, 56 Welbeck Street aims to be that home away from home for those who are fed up of living out of a suitcase in the confines of a hotel room.

A home away from home it may well be, but it comes with a 24 hour concierge and maid service and, thanks to the walls being adorned with prints by Tracey Emin, vintage mid-century furniture, 1970's chandeliers, Bertoia side chairs, vintage Moroccan Berber rugs and many other great piece, tis overly stylish to boot.

It's not all design and no substance as there's underfloor heating, Smart TV's armed with Sky and Netflix (what? You can't go out EVERY night), Diptyque candles, cashmere blankets and day passes to The Third Space.

Well, we're sold.
